

Current Staff Identification

QUAD A recognizes that significant differences exist in all countries related to the qualifications of surgical clinic staff. QUAD A wants to assure that appropriate requirements are met for accreditation. All physicians working in the surgery facility have completed appropriate medical and surgical training to perform the procedures in their specialty. Where licensure exists, all physicians must be licensed; where specialty certification exists, all physicians must have appropriate certificates. If non-physicians use the facility (such as podiatrists) they must be appropriately trained and must be licensed or certified where possible.
